Water

The last few weeks have been very wet. The rivers are full and in many places have burst their banks. Fortunately, we have the Salisbury flood meadows which are designed to act as reservoirs and prevent flooding. In December I published some photographs on the News & Notes website which showed how our rivers and fields were overflowing but managing well. There has been a wonderful sight in Bodenham of the swans moving off the river and onto the adjoining flooded field where they were able to feed in static water as opposed to the fast flowing Avon.

What a contrast to the landscape of Morocco, which we visited over the New Year. A beautiful country with mountains, desert and well cultivated fields but very dry in January. The rainy season has passed them by and the few crops we saw were struggling. The weather was dry and sunny, which is great for a holiday but not for the economy of their agriculture.

On our return to Gatwick we were greeted with driving rain which was bouncing off the roads. Our philosophical taxi driver, who was from Kashmir, had a view on oil and water; now that countries are becoming more self-sufficient on renewable energy or their own supply of oil, future conflicts are more likely to be based on water.

In September I was in northern Uganda, visiting the CRESS supported refugees from South Sudan who are living in very poor conditions in the refugee camps. Water is very scarce but critical to their wellbeing and their vegetables patches. The collection of it is the main feature of the day, with women often having to walk for hours to find a source of poor quality water.

So, whilst we are often happy to bemoan the weather, in particular the gales of mid-January, we live in an area where water is plentiful and safe to drink, the meadows and fields help to minimise the flooding of our homes, the wild life is able to adapt, but as you can read in the Longford Estate update, the fish farm has had challenges in keeping their fish inside the reservoirs rather than escaping into the Avon. Let us hope that the War of Water is still a long way off, and for now I am looking forward to the Spring and a drier landscape.

Reflection

At Home

In February we start Lent. A time of reflection and preparation; a time to think about our freedoms and our choices; a time we remember Jesus going into the wilderness. In February we also start a new passage on our journey out of the European Union.

If you are in the wilderness you are very emphatically not at home. For many of us Europe might never have felt like home, but for some of us it did and for others it might remain home in some way. Lent is a good time to leave home and to reflect where our true homes are. Do we have any choice in the matter?

I wonder where you feel at home. What makes for a home, a good home? To what extent is home where you choose it to be, and to what extent is home something that is given to you by others?

“How lovely is your dwelling-place, O Lord of hosts! My soul longs, indeed it faints for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh sing for joy to the living God. Even the sparrow finds a home, and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, at your altars, O Lord of hosts, my King and my God. Happy are those who live in your house, ever singing your praise.” Psalm 84: 1-4

Are we homesick for God’s house, as the psalmist is? I wonder whether Jesus’ time in the desert helped him to be more and more at home with God. The reverse is also true. In Jesus (and in his temptations) God comes home to us. So maybe the question is not: “Where are we at home?” Maybe the question is: “Whom can we be home for?” A choice we can make freely.

January 2020 Meeting

It was lovely to see so many members at the January meeting. The President also welcomed four new members and guests.

The short business meeting covered announcements about our many groups, county events and a debate about fundraising for the Association of Country Women of the World, a charity supported by the WI. The competition for an old dictionary was won by Jillie Bulpitt.

To give the Committee a break the entertainment was organised by the members so, after coffee, a lively game of Call My Bluff took place. Two teams of four read out definitions to very unusual words and the members had to decide on the correct meaning. There was much hilarity at the variety of pronunciations and definitions, many of which were quite similar. The winning team managed seven out of fifteen which was quite an achievement as Anna Treseder had produced many ingenious answers. Thanks go to her for compiling the game for us and to Peggy Knight for organising it.

Our next meeting is on Monday 10 Feb at 10.00am at the Radnor Hall and we will discover more of Catherine of Aragon and Anne Boleyn.

Longford Estate - Update

It would be fair to say that across the Estate we have been through 'hell and high water' in the past three months, particularly the latter! This autumn has seen an unprecedented amount of rainfall in the past few months and the number of wet days has caused problems not only here but across the country. We can of course be grateful that we are not experiencing the raging fires and heat of the Australian bush fires that are decimating large swathes of bush, rain forest, farmland and homes, any damage caused by our flooding is at least repairable.

The well made plans that we had set out for drilling our winter cereals were thrown out long ago as were the plans we made after that! The amount of rainfall and more frustratingly the number of wet days we have had made cultivations and getting seed in the ground extremely difficult. Our winter barley unfortunately never made it out of the seed bags, which leaves us in a predicament as to what we grow in its place, we are not the only farm in this position and spring crops will likely be grown in abundance across the country which will likely have a negative impact on their price. We have made positive strides on the wheat drilling with 60% of our planned area now drilled, albeit some of it in different fields to the original plan, this has been achieved through the determination and hard work of the arable team. The UK cereals market makes up about 1.8% of global production so whilst we may think we produce a lot of grain across the country we are price takers and not price makers. This has a real bearing when it comes to our cropping decisions, whatever they might be, and influences what we opt to grow if we are to be profitable.

Our cattle are out in the fields, as we do not have any cattle buildings, have had to endure the wrath of mother nature as well. With more of their winter ration already eaten due to the weather and some of our turnips failing to establish as well as we would hope, we made the decision to sell some cattle earlier than usual to ensure we have sufficient forage for the remaining winter months and before the herds go back onto the pastures in the spring.

Having had low flows in the rivers for most of the summer months, this has been completely reversed with both the Ebbles and the Avon having flooded out into The Park and water meadows prior to Christmas. The amount of water that has passed through the river channels has enabled them to be really scoured out and both rivers will benefit from this and this will enable wildlife to flourish. The Ebbles is running beautifully clear at the moment and is a great example of the type of habitat a chalk stream should be.

High water levels at a fish farm you might think would not be a problem, but in fact it is a real problem, flood defences had to be put in place to ensure fish remained in the correct ponds. More importantly, we had to ensure fish didn't escape into the main river leaving us without any fish! The new infrastructure works at the trout hatchery have progressed well despite pumps having to be installed to keep the ever-rising ground water out of the work site. This will provide a real boost to this business in terms of morale for our fish team as we are implementing new technologies, and in quantities and quality of fish being supplied to our growing sites.

HORATIO'S GARDEN SUMMER TEA PARTY

SUPPORT HORATIO'S GARDEN BY HOSTING A FABULOUS SUMMER TEA PARTY THIS JUNE

Join Joanna Lumley and Horatio's Garden charity this June by taking up your teapots, baking your favourite cake and hosting your very own Fabulous Summer Tea Party!

Horatio's Garden are asking supporters to hold a tea party anytime throughout the month of June in order to raise vital funds for the charity, which creates and nurtures beautiful gardens in NHS spinal injury centres to support everyone affected by spinal injury.

Last year the nationwide tea party raised an incredible £30,000, but this year Horatio's Garden need your help to make this the most successful Fabulous Summer Tea Party yet. The beauty of the fundraising event is that you can hold a tea party wherever you like, be that in your homes, gardens, at work, on the beach, or anywhere else you can think of!

Horatio's Garden would love to hear from anyone who would like to get involved and are especially keen to encourage community groups, sports clubs and workplaces to join in with the fun. Having seen how much people enjoyed last year's event, the charity can safely say that getting to know your neighbours, fellow sports enthusiasts and colleagues over a good brew, whilst raising money for a wonderful cause, is a great way to spend a summer afternoon.

To date the charity have opened gardens in NHS spinal injury centres in Salisbury, Glasgow, Stoke Mandeville and Oswestry. Work has recently begun on the charity's fifth project at the Royal National Orthopaedic Hospital, Stanmore, whilst their sixth project will be in Cardiff at University Hospital, Llandough. By simply hosting a tea party this summer, you'll be supporting the charity's vision to have a thriving Horatio's Garden in all the 11 NHS spinal injury centres throughout the UK.

To get involved in the Fabulous Summer Tea Party this June, all you need to do is request a Tea Party Pack. This contains everything you'll need, including invitations, posters, a 'how to host' guide and much more!

Simply email events@horatiosgarden.org.uk or visit www.horatiosgarden.org.uk/teaparty/ to receive your pack and then you too can par-tea with the best of them!

Salisbury Notices

Call out for CCTV Volunteers

Salisbury City Council are seeking volunteers to monitor and operate the new state-of-the-art digital CCTV and radio system.

Jointly funded by Salisbury City Council and Salisbury BID, Salisbury CCTV has been operating the CCTV system since September 2018, when the system was passed from Wiltshire Council to Salisbury City Council.

A team of volunteers monitor the CCTV system at key times in the communications hub inside the CCTV control room at Bourne Hill.

Richard Goodman, CCTV Manager, said: “We have recruited and trained two groups of volunteers in the last year, and they are doing a great job.

“We now have capacity to train a further 12 volunteers.

“If you have good communication skills, are able to work to a high standard under pressure and are committed to Salisbury’s security and public safety, then we’d love to hear from you.”

Volunteers are asked to commit to 16 hours a month and will be trained to a professional standard and work within a strict code of practice.

Volunteers will work with many City partners including ShopWatch, PubWatch, City Wardens, and Salisbury Police.

To enquire about volunteering as a CCTV Operator and for further information, please contact Richard Goodman on 07849088205 or Rgoodman@salisburycitycouncil.gov.uk
