Age of Anxiety?

When WH Auden called one of his poems 'The Age of Anxiety' it struck a chord. It became the title of countless other books, poems, articles - and a million car stickers. It's now a catchphrase for a whole cultural consciousness. It describes our chronic personal anxieties about illness, death, failure, and global anxieties about environmental catastrophe, pandemic, war, demise of democratic order.

Did anxiety ever exist before on this scale? Yes. Earlier eras too feared death, plagues, and barbarians at the gates. But anxiety now is massively amplified by mainstream and social media so we are more conscious of it. If anyone doubts this, think how saturated we have become with notions of 'safety'. This doesn't mean everyone now lives in a perpetual state of extreme anxiety, thankfully. But it can still ambush any of us, at some time.

How to deal with it? Not by denial and false assurances. There are real causes for anxiety, and we need to be realistic. But we need hope too. So we need realistic hope. A sense of proportion helps. We do have more resources now at least to mitigate some threats, which in the past were overwhelming. But that doesn't mean we can always just trust progress.

Neither history, experience, nor Christian faith, guarantee everything will always get better. Real hope draws on deeper perspectives from history and faith. When we ask Christian faith what we can realistically hope for there's no promise of automatic progress; but there is the promise that, whatever happens, God is working to bring good out of it. We are promised that whatever nature, chance, or our own efforts, throw into the melting pot of the future, another hidden actor is also always at work, redeeming the outcome - in this life and eternity. This is what resurrection means.

We cannot change all causes of anxiety. But we can always have realistic hope. Especially if we nourish it with human friendship, conversation, support. It is these ordinary but precious human activities which best sustain faith and hope. They are also exactly what Auden's poem presciently prescribed, long before covid's crippling restrictions. No wonder the prospect of more human contact will be so very welcome!

The voice of learning disability

I am sure many of you have had your first vaccination by now with the second date firmly in the diary as the health professions work their way down the ages. For people with a learning disability, it is not such a simple wait for their age to dictate the date alone. It took the plight of Frances and the determined campaigning of her sister, Jo Wiley, to change the priority for everyone with a learning disability so that they can now get their vaccination regardless of age. The national charity Mencap had been campaigning from the outset but sometimes it takes one prominent “famous” voice to bring it to everyone’s attention and make change happen.

As a local charity supporting people with learning disabilities, South Wilts Mencap, has continued the promotion of the importance of getting a vaccination to its members. The message simply is, if you have a learning disability, you should ensure that you are on the Learning Disability Register with your GP as it will highlight your need to have a vaccination now.

I have had the honour of working with this charity since 2013 and I can honestly say it has enriched both mine and my children’s lives getting to know the members of our community whom the charity endeavours to support, enable and inspire to lead fuller lives. Set up 60 years ago by parents, it does use the national Mencap brand as an affiliated ‘local group’ but funds itself entirely with the sole purpose of providing social activities, holidays and clubs for those aged five right through to the later years in life.

Many of you, like myself before I started working with the charity, find it confusing to know exactly what is meant by the term learning disability. We hear so much about mental health now which is fantastic and long may that continue. However, this is an entirely different matter. Mencap put it best “a learning disability is a reduced intellectual ability and difficulty with everyday activities – for example household task, socialising or managing money – which affects someone for their whole life. People with a learning disability tend to take longer to learn and may need support to develop new skills, understand complicated information and interact with people.”

My time with the Salisbury based charity has had many highlights over the years. We love nothing more than to party, so every year we hold one big one at Godolphin’s Blackledge Theatre. It provides the perfect venue to dance with friends and enjoy a delicious buffet washed down with a cheeky drink (adults only of course). In the summer we get active with the help of Wiltshire Council’s disability sports team and have a very competitive sports day at Sarum Academy. Throughout the year we have various social clubs that meet in the evening to enjoy activities with their peers and we all get jealous seeing photos from the holidays that our charity runs at home and abroad. Partying in Ibiza nightclubs is a popular choice as is banana boat riding in Corfu and mud baths in Turkey. For those who like it a little less wild, the Bluebell Line train or a trip to Butlins is on offer.

All this is possible because of the, some might say “unique” or “quirky”, charity shop in Catherine Street. Whatever the opinion it has been run entirely by volunteers for nearly 40 years and makes up nearly all of the charity’s income. The eclectic array of stock means there really is something for everyone and we have wonderfully loyal customers who I know can’t wait for us to reopen (hopefully on 12 April if all goes well).

Nunton Farm

We've all seen the tractors plodding to and from the dairy, looked on at the cows grazing peacefully in the pasture, and sampled the delights of Nunton Farm's creamy, fresh milk. But have you ever wondered exactly how many cows held up your daily commute? Considered when exactly to time your dog-walk so that you could catch a glimpse of milking time? Here's a little insight into the activities on Nunton Farm, a few facts and figures, and hopefully a few questions answered...

Women

Recently it was International Women's Day. So to kick it all off, I'd like to give a shout out to the women of Nunton Farm. I'm not sure if farming is still considered to be a male dominated industry, but it certainly isn't on Nunton Farm! We have five fantastic women on our farm: Charlotte, Beth, Tiny, Hazel and Liz work diligently, tirelessly and with huge devotion in all areas of farming, and we're proud to say they're part of the team.

Grass, grass, grass!

Nunton Farm spans 1200 acres of land. Of that, 940 acres is grass, 180 is maize, and 80 is lucerne (you may know it by its more popular name, alfalfa). The cows graze the 40 odd grass fields in a rotation system, grazing down one field before moving onto the next in the hope that the first field is fully replenished once they have rotated around the lot! Each week, we measure the grass in every field on the farm, this is known as 'walking the grass', and it's measured with a plate meter (affectionately known as 'the plonker' in the Martin household). The maize and lucerne is used to make silage for the winter months, when the grass struggles to grow quickly enough.

When are they milked? Why?

Cows are milked twice every day. The milkings need to be as far apart as possible in order to collect the most milk. Milking 12 hours apart would produce the greatest yield, but makes for a very long and antisocial working day; our cows are milked at 4am and 2pm (hint: that's when to time your dairy dog-walk folks!). Every day, twice a day, the cows walk from their grazing field to the dairy to be milked, and back again. If their current grazing field is dairy-side of the Odstock-Nunton road there's no commute interruptions, and if it's hospital-side then... well, you've all been there!

How many cows?!

There are 800 milking cows on the farm, 200 calves, and another 200 cows offsite. The 200 offsite are just down the road on Uncle Edward's farm, at a sort of 'boarding school'. These are heifers (they've not yet had a calf) and so they can't be milked. They stay at Uncle Edward's boarding school until they are ready to come back to the farm and calve for the first time, at around two years old, after which they will join their pals in the herd.

Daily stats:

We have Friesian and Jersey cows, who will drink around 50 litres of water each day (100 on a hot day!) and convert 20 litres of that into milk, daily. That works out at around 12,000 litres of milk produced by the farm each day. And every day, roughly 385 litres of this is sold through our three vending machines (about 900litres per machine, per week). We sell the rest through a contract, which used to be Wyke, who produce cheese, but is now Blackmoor Vale Dairy, who produce all sorts of dairy goodness, including cheese, kefir and yogurt.

Future plans:

We have loved the community spirit behind the vending machines, the fewer food miles and the idea of reusable glass bottles. We hope to supply our wider local community as we expand our vending machine enterprise and supply local shops with our delicious milk!

Community News

Downton Mobile Post Office

There is now a mobile Post Office in the layby outside Number 56 Moot Lane, Downton, Salisbury, Wiltshire, SP5 3JS on Friday mornings 9 – 10 am.

Unsolicited work and Scam phone calls

There was a recent incident in Odstock, where an elderly resident was approached by two men who knocked on the door saying the trees in the garden needed cutting and they would do it. This was unsolicited work. One of the men became quite aggressive and abusive when his offer was rejected and they drove off in a van towing a long trailer. The moral of this is to be wary of unsolicited offers of work, and be on your guard for people offering to do things which you have not asked for. If you are in any doubt, call a neighbour or contact the police.

In the past few weeks there seemed to have been an increase of rather nasty and aggressive unwanted telephone calls, making reference to Amazon accounts, Apple iPads and tax irregularities. Beware, these calls are trying to get you to respond and the result will not be good. If in doubt, hang-up. Reputable companies will not hassle you.

ONB Mothering Sunday Posies

Many people have expressed how delighted they were to receive a posy of daffodils on Mothering Sunday and wish to thank all the church members who made this possible.

CRESS Annual Report

The CRESS annual report is now on the website and also in eN&N. Huge thanks to all those readers who so generously donate to support the South Sudanese in the refugee camps in Uganda.

Please read the report and if it were possible to make a regular donation it would be greatly appreciated.

A linguistics professor was lecturing his class one day. 'In English', he said, 'A double negative forms a positive. In some languages, though, such as Russian, a double negative is still a negative. However, there is no language wherein a double positive can form a negative.'

A loud voice from the back of the room piped up, 'Yeah, right.'

A friend recently had his dose of the vaccine at the vaccination centre after which he began to have blurred vision on the way home. When he got home, he called the vaccination centre for advice and to ask if he should go see a doctor, or visit the hospital.

He was told NOT to go to a doctor or a hospital, but just return immediately to the centre and pick up his glasses.

EXERCISE FOR PEOPLE OVER 60

Begin by standing on a comfortable surface, where you have plenty of room at each side. With a 5-lb potato bag in each hand, extend your arms straight out from your sides and hold them there as long as you can. Try to reach a full minute, and then relax.

Each day you'll find that you can hold this position for just a bit longer. After a couple of weeks, move up to 10-lb potato bags. Then try 50-lb potato bags and eventually try to get to where you can lift a 100-lb potato bag in each hand and hold your arms straight for more than a full minute.

After you feel confident at that level, put a potato in each bag.

Light Relief

- ⇒ Two lawyers arrive at the pub and ordered a couple of drinks. They then take sandwiches from their briefcases and began to eat. Seeing this, the angry publican approaches them and says, 'Excuse me, but you cannot eat your own sandwiches in here!' The two look at each other, shrug and exchange sandwiches.
- ⇒ Brenda and Terry are going out for the evening. The last thing they do is put their cat out. The taxi arrives, and as the couple walk out of the house, the cat scoots back in. Terry returns inside to chase it out. Brenda, not wanting it known that the house would be empty, explains to the taxi driver, 'My husband is just going upstairs to say goodbye to my mother.' Several minutes later, an exhausted Terry arrives and climbs back into the taxi saying, 'Sorry I took so long, the stupid idiot was hiding under the bed and I had to poke her with a coat hanger several times before I could get her to come out!'
- ⇒ A policeman spotted a jay walker and decided to challenge him, 'Why are you trying to cross here when there's a zebra crossing only 20 metres away?' 'Well,' replied the jay walker, 'I hope it's having better luck than me.'

More Oscar Wilde Quotations

- A cynic is a man who knows the price of everything but the value of nothing.
- Moderation is a fatal thing. Nothing succeeds like excess.
- There are only two kinds of people who are really fascinating: people who know absolutely everything, and people who know absolutely nothing.
- To lose one parent, Mr Worthing, may be regarded as a misfortune; to lose both looks like carelessness.
- We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking at the stars.
- An idea that is not dangerous is unworthy of being called an idea at all.
- Education is an admirable thing, but it is well to remember from time to time that nothing that is worth knowing can be taught.
- One should absorb the colour of life, but one should never remember its details.

NEWS FROM CRESS

ANNUAL REPORT & CLINIC NEWS

2020 GOOD NEWS

So much was achieved in 2020 despite the pandemic and we can now present to you our charity Annual Report with all those details collated in one place.

We hope you enjoy having a look and we thank you all for these successes which could not have been achieved without your generosity.

CLINIC : BUSY AS EVER

10,000 children have been given Vitamin A and de-worming pills and 3000 pregnant women have been given multi-vitamins. The lack of nutrients in the refugee diet is really impacting their health now they have been in Uganda so many years, and with the cutbacks in rations for the refugees last year the effects of malnutrition have become ever more apparent.

The only way to improve these local diets is through the agriculture programmes and Viola Poni is looking to help teach about nutrition and the best cooking methods in order to maximise the health benefits of their food.

Vitamin delivery at the Matu outreach post

New arrival: Both South Sudanese and local Ugandans are increasingly aware that the clinic is a safe place to give birth.

NEW ARRIVALS

Last weekend there were three beautiful new arrivals at the clinic.

However this week we have also been shown by other charity research in Uganda that, due to the pandemic, many girls are at risk of school dropout and early marriage because of school closures and the economic pressures. The girls believe leaving school will mark the end of their dreams and hopes for the future. The clinic has already seen school girls giving birth since the pandemic lockdown.

We are always looking for funding for our RUMPS/hygiene/family spacing programme and hope to be able to deliver this again during 2021.

Take part in the St. George's Day Treasure Hunt!

ST. GEORGE'S TREASURE HUNT

1st April to 30th April 2021

Decipher the clues around Salisbury to find St. George's lost treasure!

www.salisburycitycouncil.gov.uk

To celebrate St. George's Day this year, the City Council invites you to take part in a fantastic treasure hunt taking place from 1st until 30th April in the City.

Providing fun for all of the family, the treasure hunt will give you the opportunity to explore the centre of Salisbury and seek out the 9 shields that St. George has used whilst fighting the dragon.

How to play the Treasure Hunt:

Each shield will contain a clue which you will need to decipher, that will then direct you to the location of the next shield, and eventually to the "hidden treasure". At each location you will also find a letter, make a note of it on the blank shield on the reverse of the flyer. Collect a flyer (that also has your first clue) from Shopmobility or simply download and print your copy on the Salisbury City Council website and use the key code on the back to decipher the code you will find on the shield. Then, once you have found the treasure chest at the end, spell out the name of the lost treasure using the letters.

How to collect your reward:

Once you know what your treasure is, fill out the flyer and take it to the Information Centre (when it opens on 12 April) or Shopmobility before Friday 7 May to claim your reward!
